

Five Ways to Use a fragment of a ruler to measure well!

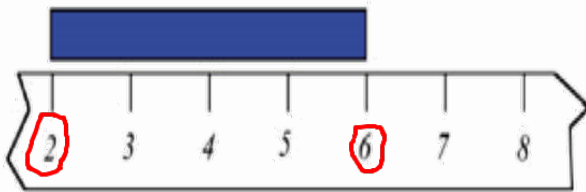

Several possible examples with explanations about counting space and using numbers:

more ways to find the length
along a broken ruler:

This approach shows the re-numbering to repair the ruler and fit the object.

Here the endpoints are marked, and we find the difference: $6 - 2 = 4$. So the length is 4 inches.